

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 11, 2012

Contacts: Matthew Lee (301) 931-2001
Jack Hollerbach (410) 382-6912

Korean Business Enterprise Organization (KoBE)
Names Jack Hollerbach to Advisory Posts

Laurel, MD – The Korean Business Enterprise Organization (KoBE) has announced that John P. (Jack) Hollerbach, Founder and President of Hollerbach & Associates, LLC has been named to its Advisory Board. KoBE President Matthew S. Lee also announced that Hollerbach will function as Director of Business Development for the industry group.

“Jack has been a friend to the Korean business community for many years, including his participation in the Montgomery County Trade Mission to Korea several years ago, and consulting work for several of our companies in the past,” said Lee who is also Founder and President of FASTech, Inc. “We are very pleased to bring his business experience in banking, construction and technology to KoBE. In particular, emerging companies in our membership will benefit from his advice and business relationships.”

KoBE is a non-profit organization that encourages Korean-American businesses to participate in Federal & State government procurement opportunities, with resources that help to expand those businesses. The membership program includes on site or online seminars, assistance in advertising and press releases, training of business interns, and assistance in processing of SBA (Small Business Administration) 8(a), MBE (Minority Business Enterprise), and similar licenses.

“I am delighted to join Matthew Lee and Chairman Henry Kim in building KoBE into a comprehensive small business empowerment organization,” Hollerbach said. “Our mission at Hollerbach & Associates, LLC has been to help companies getting ready to grow or preparing for change, and I am happy to bring that experience to my new voluntary role at the KoBE Organization, and to help in introducing these highly qualified member companies to the larger business community.”

Hollerbach & Associates., LLC was founded in 2000 to help small businesses in the greater Washington DC region with a variety of financial management assignments. The firm’s business activities led to the founding of HarVest Bank of Maryland in 2004 and Jack Hollerbach served as President, CEO and co-Founder of the Bank, while developing the vision and business plan that led to nearly $240 Million in assets in its first five years of business. HarVest was named the Maryland Small Business of the Year by the Maryland Chamber of Commerce in 2006, one of many awards earned during its seven-year history. Hollerbach returned to the consulting practice in early 2011, after a recapitalization led to a regulatory change in control application by the bank’s new investors. He is also an adjunct professor at the Johns Hopkins Carey School MBA Program.

FASTech, Inc. established in 1990, is headquartered in Laurel, MD. FASTech is a strong player in both government and commercial markets as a provider of expert services and products that enable clients to perform their jobs more efficiently. FASTech pays close attention to each of our customers' needs and has steadily grown by providing consistently high quality performance across a broad range of services for each and every client. Core capabilities include Information Technology (IT) Software, Hardware, and IT Support Services, Professional, Management and Administrative Support Services, Warehousing and Storage Services, and Special Studies and Analyses.

For More Information, visit these websites:

KoBE www.kobeusa.org/home/eng

Hollerbach & Associates, LLC www.hollerbachassociatesllc.com

Fastech, Inc www.fastechinc.com